As a leader in sample characterization techniques, Beckman Coulter offers comprehensive training for the Optima Analytical Ultracentrifuge (AUC). From basic AUC theory to hands-on sample prep and sedimentation velocity experiments, this training is ideal for researchers and scientists with the most complex sample characterization requirements.

Visit beckman.com/training to view all training options and register for courses.

For training inquiries or customized training requests, email us at beckmancoulterlearningcenter@beckman.com